

Long-Term Disability (LTD) Insurance

Members of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario (RNAO) are sometimes in the position of needing to obtain insurance benefits for themselves. RNAO and HUB International have partnered to design and offer a benefits program to assist you with your insurance needs. This includes a long term disability benefit available at a low cost through the combined purchasing power of the association.

According to statistics, due to the nature of your work as a nurse, you have more than a 1 in 3 chance of being disabled before age 65. If you remain disabled for more than 90 days, there is a strong possibility that the disability will continue for at least 3 years. This can have a devastating impact on your ability to meet family expenses and prepare for retirement.

The plan is designed to protect your most valuable asset - your ability to earn an income.

Eligibility

The plan is available to all members and associates of the RNAO who are under the age of 65. You can protect your income with benefits up to $5,000 per month, as long as you work a minimum of 15 hours per week.

Definition of disability

You will be considered disabled if you are unable to perform the duties of your own occupation for the first 2 years of disability. This means you will not be forced to take a job outside the nursing profession during this time.

Benefit payments

There are three different plans available. You can choose benefits that will pay for 2 years, 5 years, or to age 65. All benefits will begin after a 120 day waiting period from the date of disability.

Limitations/Termination

Benefits will not be paid beyond:

- Your 65th birthday
- The date you are no longer disabled
- The end of the month for which premiums have been paid
- Your retirement
- Your death

If necessary, your benefit will be offset by disability benefits from any other source, so that your total income does not exceed 85% of your pre-disability net income.

$$\begin{aligned}
 & $40,000 / 12 = $3,333 \\
 & $2,500 \times .6667 = $1,666.75 \text{ (66.67\% of first } $2,500) \\
 & $833 \times .50 = $416.50 \text{ (50\% of next } $4,000) \\
 & $1,666.75 + $416.50 = $2,083.25
 \end{aligned}$$
