Guideline Search Strategy

1. Structured Website Search

Two Guideline Development Methodologists searched an established list of website for guidelines. Guidelines were selected based on the following criteria:

- Published in English
- Available and accessible for retrieval
- Developed based on a systematic search of the literature
- Published no earlier than 2000
- Relevant to nursing scope of practice
- Applicable to the Canadian context
- Guideline was strictly related to: commercial tobacco smoking interventions
- Focus: Perinatal Indigenous persons and their families

Websites searched:

- National Guideline Clearinghouse (NGC)
- National Institute for Health and Care Excellence (NICE) (UK): Evidence Services
- Canadian Medical Association Infobase: Clinical Practice Guidelines
- Scottish Intercollegiate Guidelines Network (SIGN)
- National Health and Medical Research Council (NHMRC): Clinical Practice Guidelines
- eGuidelines
- Guidelines International Network (GIN)
- Cancer Care Ontario (CCO)
- Ontario Tobacco Research Unit (OTRU)
- Centre for Addiction and Mental Health (camh)
- The Ottawa Model
- Best Start
- Canadian Institute of Child Health
- Society of Obstetricians and Gynaecologists of Canada (SOGC)
- Ontario Midwives Association
- Canadian Association of Midwives
- International Association of Midwives
- World Health Organization (WHO)
- New Zealand Ministry of Health
- Royal Australian College of General Practitioners
- Tackling Indigenous Smoking (Australia)
- United States Department of Human Health Services Public Health Service
- Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ)
- National Institute of Health

- American Collee of Obstetricians & Gynecologists
- Google search engine

2. Hand Search RNAO expert panel members were asked to review personal libraries to identify and submit potentially relevant guidelines. Guidelines submitted for consideration by RNAO expert panel members were integrated into the retrieved list of guidelines if they had not been identified by the on-line guideline search and met the inclusion criteria.
