Best Practices in Wound Care Institute: Minding the Gap

Making a difference in the quality of care

This institute provides opportunities to learn about the best practices in wound care through interactive dialogue with experts and through case studies, demonstrations and hands-on application labs.

Now with Foundational and Advanced streams

F Foundational stream builds on your clinical expertise using best practice guidelines related to wound care.

A Advanced stream focuses on leadership capacity in wound care best practice guideline implementation and evaluation. (geared to those with wound care experience or previous RNAO wound care institute attendees)

Foundational stream

Our mission:

To reduce the physiological, psychological, and the fiscal burden of wounds throughout Ontario by building clinical expertise using best practice guidelines (BPGs) related to wound care.

The goals of the institute:

To reinforce the concept of evidence-based practice to the front-line clinician

To review and apply specific BPG recommendations through didactic, case and skill-based labs

- Risk Assessment and Prevention of Pressure Ulcers
- Assessment and Management of Stage I to IV Pressure Ulcers
- Assessment and Management of Foot Ulcers for People with Diabetes
- Assessment and Management of Venous Leg Ulcer

To review and clarify nursing best practices as it relates to skin tears

To enhance the participants' understanding of the range of wound care products and services available to clients.

Overall learner outcomes:

Gain knowledge of:

Best practice guidelines related to wound prevention and treatment

Interprofessional team building

Monitoring wound care outcomes

Be able to:

Articulate the appropriate BPG recommendations as they relate to wound care issues

Articulate the concept of evidence-based practice and how to influence better client outcomes

Advanced stream

Our mission:

To reduce the physiological, psychological, and the fiscal burden of wounds throughout Ontario by building leadership capacity in wound care BPG implementation and by building on the knowledge and skills learned at the Foundational Wound Care Institute.

The goals of the institute:

To enhance leadership in wound care BPG implementation and evaluation

To provide mentorship regarding the development of business/program planning; research; policies; and surveillance in all sectors of health care in Ontario

To build a foundation of innovation, allowing each individual participant to develop initial plans for future successful implementation of BPGs in their workplaces

To build an awareness of the 'metrics' and 'surveillance' of wound care assessment and management

To learn how to apply the guideline implementation framework outlined in the RNAO Toolkit: Implementation of Best Practice Guidelines. 2nd Ed., to support wound care best practices

Overall learner outcomes:

Gain knowledge of:

Best practice guidelines related to wound prevention and treatment

Approaches to lead practice change

Program planning, evaluation and surveillance

Leadership and interprofessional collaboration

Be able to:

Identify, analyze and engage stakeholders within individual organizations relating to wound care

Determine strategies required to implement wound care best practices in your organization

Identify resources and supports required for successful BPG implementation
